I. Purpose:

- A. To describe the establishment of the AJCHRA.

II. Guideline:

- A. The agencies participating in formulating an Intergovernmental Agreement (IGA) established an entity to be known as the "Adams and Jefferson County Hazardous Response Authority", which shall be responsible for the organization administration and operation of the Hazardous Materials response program. While personnel assigned to fire department/districts, law enforcement and other recognized agencies will provide the primary support for the hazardous materials response program and funding is provided as established within the IGA, the Authority is managed by a Board of Directors.

- B. The Adams and Jefferson County Hazardous Materials Authority Board is referred to as the "Authority Board" or "Board" in general discussion and documents.
